INTRODUCTION

The purpose of the Austin History Center is to provide customers with information about the history and current events of Austin and Travis County by collecting, organizing, and preserving research materials and assisting in their use.

The collections of the Austin History Center contain valuable research materials that document the lives and activities of Austin women from primarily the mid-19th century to the present time. The materials in this resource guide are arranged by collection unit. Within each collection unit, items are arranged in shelf-list order. Note, all category listings are by no means exhaustive or complete. Rather, they are meant to highlight a selection of collections that could be of value or interest to researchers investigating history related to women in the Austin/Travis County area.

AUSTIN FILES – BIOGRAPHY

The Austin Files – Biography contain clippings, photos, and ephemera about Austin and Travis County residents who have contributed to the community. Biography clippings files and photographs may be found using the APL online library catalog—enter the name, along with the term “biography file” to narrow the search. If you are unable to find a particular woman, it may be helpful to look under her father’s, husband’s or family’s name, since many older files were grouped in this way.

Information about individuals buried in city operated cemeteries no later than 1998 may be found in the city’s interment reports which are available on microfiche in the Reading Room.

PERIODICALS

The Periodicals Collection includes newspapers, magazines, and newsletters published in or about Austin and Travis County. The collection is arranged alphabetically by title. Titles can be found by looking in the Periodical Index, located in the AHC Reading Room or via our online periodicals list at: <http://library.austintexas.gov/ahc/periodicals>.

The Austin History Center has a complete run of the Austin American-Statesman (AAS) on microfilm since its founding in 1871. The following is a listing of the AAS indexes developed by the AHC staff until 1992, along with other database access tools. For a complete listing of APL databases, please visit <http://library.austintexas.gov/databases>.
